There's Nothing So Bad

For a Cough as Coughing. You know it just as well as we do. Your throat always feels worse after a hard coughing spell. And yet you fuss along with your cough, trusting to vinegar and molasses, or sugar and lemon, or some new-fangled medicine you have just read of, getting no better, or just a trifle worse each day.

Why waste time? Why run the slightest risk of causing asthma, bronchitis, loss of voice, or why make the road so easy for Consumption? Just keep in mind this one thing -

There's Nothing So Good

For a Cough as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Frequent Guests at White House

Frequent Guests at White House.

"Members of the journalistic fraternity were also frequent guests at the White House during General Harrison's administration, and several of them have dined there more than once with him and his family. I am not now speaking of the great editors and leading journalists, but of the humbler and less well-known members of the craft, those who came in contact with the President in their professional duties of acquainting the public with the affairs of the Government.

the President in their professional duties of acquainting the public with the affairs of the Government.

"Ex-President Harrison was a great walker, and did more walking through the streets of this city than probably any other President, with the possible exception of General Grant. Although his favorite walk was down past the white lot to the monument grounds, where there were comparatively few persons on the streets, he frequently wandered out Connecticut avenue and on other much-frequented thoroughfares. It was no uncommon thing for him to stroll out of the White House grounds, down Pennsylvania avenue to the Capitol and back, mingling unmolested in the crowd on that thoroughfare during the busiest hours of the day. He was recognized by mearly every one, but was not interfered with in the least, not even by the most importunate office seeker. It was generally understood that he was out for a constitutional, and did not desire company."

STONEMASON'S JOKE.

Carried It Out and Then Fled the Country.

Country.

Some of the ornamental waterspouts on old St. Glies's Church, in the Camberwell district of London, were so venerable that they were crumbling away, and a local knight of the chisel was duly called in to carve new ones. Apparently he received no instructions as to what the new figures should be, but was left to use his own judgment, and that was where the powers that be at St. Glies's made a step that added to the gayety of nations.

The stonemason evidently had strange ideas about the fitness of things. He had also strong political leanings, his opinions it dorsing the Liberal party in England rather than the Conservatives. Here he saw an opportunity to glorify his favorite statesmen and humiliate those of whose policy he disapproved, and he did it. One of the gargoyles had been fashioned as an angel's head, and this the artist replaced with the familiar features of Gliadstone, endowing the great Premier with a pair of wings. Where had been a dragon of evil milen he placed the face of Mr. Chamberlain, eyeglass and all, not caring to compliment this gentleman, as the picture shows. The enterprising artist completed his work by placing upon various other waterspouts the physiognomies of Lord Salisbury, Lord Randolph Churchill and John Bright.

The peculiar nature of the stonemason's handlwork was not noticed at first, but when the attention of the vestrymen of St. Glies's was finally called to this fearful and wonderful array of gargoyles they were naturally horrfined. They sought for the stonemason, to take him to task, only to learn that, dreading the wrath to come, he had taken passage for New York.

KIPLING'S PAGANISM.

Three sizes: 250., 500., $1.00. All druggists.

To keep on hand you will like the $1.00 size best, and you will need this amount to cure a chronic or very severe case. The 50c. size is just about right for bronchitis, hoarseness, la grippe, croup, etc. The 25c. size is convenient when traveling, and is enough to break up a fresh cold.

J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

GENERAL HARRISON'S DEMOCRATIC WAYS.

Treated Newspaper Men Who Accompanied Him on Trips as He Did Cabinet Members.

ALL TOOK TURNS AT HIS TABLE.

Humblest Member of His Party Had Opportunity to Break Bread With the President - His Love for Baby McKee.

Washington, March 16 .- "Notwithstanding General Harrison's aristocratic lineage and his exalted station as President of the United States," said an old newspaper man to-day, "he was one of the most democratic nen I ever met, either in public or private ife. He was the same with one man as with another, in spite of the fact that one may have been poor and insignificant and the other rich and influential. He was a thorough gentleman under all circumstances and conditions and was courteous and considerate to everybody who had bus-"Apparently cold and austere in manner, he was, in fact, one of the warmest-hearted of men. This characteristic was demonstrated in the most practical way when-ever any of those he loved met with any loss or family affliction. In such cases loving mother. Moreover, he was a thoroughly domestic man, and preferred the simple joys of the family hearth and home to the greatest pomp and ceremony of pub-His Love for His Grandson.

"His love and devotion to his little grandson, Baby McKee, was remarkable. He was almost as much wrapped up in that boy as a mother with her first born. It was a mater of comment during his residence in the White House that young Ben had more ac-tual control over the President than the most influential member of his Cabinet; that is, in case it became a question of choice as to which should have his first at-When not engaged with the cares of state, he would romp and play with 'Baby McKee' and take him out for a walk whenever the opportunity offered. Little Ben was a most autocratic playmate, and was most exacting in his demands on and was most exacting in its defiants on his venerable and dignified grandfather. That the latter happened to be the Chief Magistrate made no difference to the boy. But all that's been told before, and is well known to everybody who reads the newspapers.

The point is that General Harrison was thoroughly democratic in his daily dealings with men. Newspaper men who associated with him with various degrees of intimacy

AFTER-EFFECTS OF GRIP

Are Often More Serious Than the Grip Itself.

Physicians and grip sufferers alike are agreed that the after effects of the disease are more to be feared than the acute atagreed that the after effects of the disease are more to be feared than the acute attack; you can never be sure that the disease has left the system completely.

LaGrippe naturally attacks the weakest organ and leaves it still weaker.

Not only pneumonia, consumption, bronchits and throat trouble follow the grip, but kidney, liver and stomach are troubles just as liable to result, provided any of these organs should harpen to be in a weak condition at the time of attack.

To get rid of the grip germ, to get it entirely out of the system and blood, few remedies are so good and none safer than Stuart's Catarrh Tablets; they are not a compound of powerful and dangerous drugs, but a pleasant, palatable, convenient remedy in tablet form, composed of the wholesome antiseptic principles of Eucalyptus bark, blood root and similar germicine remedies which are perfectly wholesome and harmless to the system, but death to the serms of grip, catarrh, consumption and diseases of the throat and air passages.

Mrs. Chas. Gormley of Memphis says:
Last winter an attack of the grip left me with weak back, a persistent cough and loss of fiesh and appetite, and after using various remedies for several months with little or no improvement I finally bought a 50 cent package of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at my drug store and as they were pleasant and convenient to take I used them at all times of day or night and I was astonished to secure such fine results from so pleasant and convenient medicine. In two weeks my cough disappeared, my appetite returned. I improved in fiesh and color and no one would now think that I had ever had such a thing as the grip.

My drugsist told me he sold more of Stu-

KIPLING'S PAGANISM.

This muscular paganism, this sense of animal vigor and warmth, gives to Kipling's creations that last material embodiment which has already been so admirably begun by his sensuous painting, his command of movement. As he himself says: "The smell is entirely real." How much of our sympathy with Terence Mulvaney depends on our admiration for his brawny prowess, his slugging power, his prizelighting gift; and how much of our enthusiasm for Kipling's battle-pieces, his skirmishes in the Soudan, the Afghan Hills or the Malay Islands, depends on the same thing—worship of the animal man! There is much that is wholesome in this, but much that is base, too, writes Charles Johnston in the Literary Era. The present realization of Kipling's ideal in China is filling with disgust all that is best in the civilized world, and, we may add, is making the savage world thank heaven it is not civilized world, and, we may add, is making the savage world thank heaven it is not civilized world, and, we may add, is making the savage world thank heaven it is not civilized world, and, we may add, is making the savage world thank heaven it is not civilized world, and, we may add, is making the savage world thank heaven it is not civilized world, and, we may add, is making the savage world thank heaven it is not civilized world, and we may add, is making the savage world thank heaven it is only after we pass those limits that we begin our human history, much of which is to Kipling a sealed book.

Therefore it is that his genius shows to best advantage in the jungle, among bears and wolves, black leopards and sambhur deer. There he is free to forget our human bonds, to give the rein to his animal magnetism, his worship of the brute in motion, his splendid and vivid sense of color. Therefore it is that in the Jungle Book Kipling comes nearest to our hearts.

one wolling as the grip,

My druggist told me he sold more of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, for the cure of grip, colds and catarrh, than any other similar ### during his public and private career have been strongly impressed with that fact. While he was President he took many long railroad trips to various parts of the country, including the famous 10,000 mile trip to the Pacific Coast. ROBBERS HELD UP trip to the Pacific Coast. How He Treated Newspaper Men. "Newspaper men accompanied him on all the trips of a public character, and he made it a rule that they should always be considered members of his party and treated just like all the others—Cabinet Ministers, Generals of the army. Admirals of the navy—it made no difference who. He always made it a point to inform visting committeemen from cities desiring to entertain him that the newspaper men were members of his personal party, and must not be discriminated against in any way in the arrangements. Thus it happened that the correspondents were always provided with carriages in the processions and had prominent seats near the head of the banquet table. "But it was in the hospital trains on the BROTHER AND SISTER.

At Point of Revolvers They Take Purse and $7.50 From Francis Melks and his sister, Mary Melks, ble.

"But it was in the head of the banquet table.

"But it was in the hospital trains on the road that General Harrison showed his true democratic character. In the dining car there were seats for only four persons at the Pesident's table. In order to make everybody feel perfectly at home General Harrison made it a practice to change his guests at each meal. In that way every member of the party had an opportunity to break bread with the President. The newspaper men were always included in this arrangement, and each had his turn of breakfasting or dining with the President and his wife, also, if she happened to be of the party, which was frequently the case. who live at No. 642 Suburban avenue, were held up at the points of revolvers by three Raffroad tracks and Bartmer avenue in St. Louis County at 9 o'clock has night.

A purse that Melks's sister carried in her hand was snatched from her. It contained $7.50 in money. Whether or not Melks lost anything the police of the Mounted District Meiks and his sister were walking Meirs and his sister were waiking on Bartmer avenue, and when they passed Robinson's saloon at No. 6145 Bartmer ave-nue, they noticed three men standing in front. They claim these men followed them to the Wabash Rallroad crossing, two blocks distant, and, with drawn revolvers. made them throw up their hands.

The robbery was reported to the Mounted District and an investigation was made, but the officers learned nothing that gave them a clew to the perpetrators.

FOOTPADS ROB A SHOPPER.

Joseph Woods Loses Money, Alarm Clock and Parcel.

his clothing.

The robbers got $4. They also took an alarm clock and four yards of flannel that Woods was carrying under his arm.

HOW TO TRAIN A DOG.

Be Firm, but Not Harsh, When Teaching Him Tricks.

Did you ever think that pupples are really much more intelligent and clever than babtes? No child goes to school before the age of 5, but pupples start in on the their bables? No child goes to school before the age of 5, but pupples start in on the their education at the tender age of 5 weeks.

The choice of a dog is the first thing to consider. If you live in the country a watchdog is desirable, and St. Bernards, mastiffs and Newfoundlands are in this class. Although small, the fox terrier is better suited to the country than to be cooped up in a city house; he is so active and destructive.

If you want an affectionate, intelligent pet for the city, you cannot do better than to choose a King Charles spaniel, a French buildog, a setter or a poodle; the latter is the readlest to learn tricks.

For the first few days after you have gotten your dog, you should be with him a good deal, for, remember, he has just been weaned from his mother, and is now a stranger in a strange land, and naturally lonely. When he howls, don't hush him up with a cuff or an angry word. You would not treat a baby brother that way. See that the puppy has something to chew on—something too large for him to swallow.

The first step in his education is to win his affection. Always have some tiny morsel of food to give him every time you visit him the first few days. In that way he will associate your coming with something pleasant.

As soon as he gets to know and love you, him the first few days. In that way he will associate your coming with something pleasant.

As soon as he gets to know and love you you may start in training him. Be both firm and kind, and never harsh. If, sometimes, you feel your patience is about exhausted and you would just like to give the contrary scamp a good box on the ear, just drop the lesson and go back to it an hour or two later. You want to remember that dogs often have quite as sensitive feelings as people.

It is a good plan to decide on a certain signal in whistling, say either a long note or two short ones. If you happen to be a girl, you can buy a whistle, if nature has not endowed you with one.

Whistle to him while you are close by and immediately give him a morsel to eat. Repeat the performance several times, increasing the distance between you each time. In a short time the puppy will learn that your whistle means that there's something good for him, if he will run to you for it. Never fail, though, to pet him a lot each time, and after awhile he will grow to think quite as much of your approbation as of the food you give. Of course, in the beginning it is a good plan to give him a lesson when he is hungry, as hunger will make him work all the harder to please you and win the food.

You know how you hate to be kept too long at one lesson in school. Well, it is precisely the same way with a puppy. In teaching him to come to you or to charge, just try him a half a dozen times, and then stop for, say, an hour.

Innocence.

Berger: "Yes, we each of us used our own dice, and he won right along. It was some time before I discovered the reason."

Dumleigh: "And what did you do when you found it out?"

Berger: Do? What could I do? He told me be did not know they were loaded, and of course I had to take his word for it."—

Boston Transcript.

THOUSANDS UNABLE TO VIEW THE DEAD.

Although General Harrison's Body Lay in State All Day, Many Were Disappointed.

LONG LINE LED TO CAPITOL.

Finally Dispersed When Casket Misgovernment of the City Re-Was Taken Back to Residence-Doctor Niccolls of St. Louis to Assist in Services.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 16.-Beneath canopy of black, placed on the rotunda of the Capitol building, in a casket covered Stripes, surrounded by thousands of blossoms, while over all swung the great battle flag that flew from the warship Indiana during the naval battle of Santiago, the body of ex-President Harrison lay in state for nine hours to-day.

During that time fully 50,000 persons passed by the corpse to take a last look at the distinguished dead, and when, at 10 o'clock to-night, the Capitol doors were finally closed and the people told that no more could enter, there were still thou-sands more waiting patiently in line. The body lay in state from 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon until 10 o'clock at night, and not once during these hours was there a break once during these hours was there a break or halt in the lines which passed rapidly by on the right and left of the casket.

It was Indiana's day with her dead, and most touchingly was the esteem and honor in which General Harrison was held by his fellow-citizens revealed. In front or the Harrison home, along the streets through which the remains were carried on their way to and from the State House, in the lines that stretched at times a half mile from the doors of the Capitol, men, women and children stood for hours waiting their opportunity to pay a tribute of respect to the dead.

the dead.

It was an immense throng, but one more easy to handle, or, rather, one that required less handling, never gathered anywhere. There was no jostling, no disorder, no disturbance of any kind. Not a single objectionable feature marred the day. The wasther was neglect. weather was perfect.

An Old Soldier's Tribute.

An Old Soldier's Tribute.

Early in the morning Mrs. Harrison entered the room where her husband lay, to be alone with him for probably the last time. As she stood in the darkened chamber, the door of the room opened noiselessly and an old soldier, bent with age and shivering in the bitter cold of the morning, came slowly in. He did not see Mrs. Harrison, and leaned over the dead face, and tears came to his eyes.

"Colonel," he said, softly, and touched the witte hand on the General's breast—"Colonel!"

white hand on the General's breast—
"Colonel!"

Mrs. Harrison came to where he was standing and said:

"I am Mrs. Harrison."

"You will excuse me," the old man said, "for intruding on your grief, but I wanted to see my old commander once more, just once more. I have tried very hard to come to Indianapolis, to see him when he was alive and never could. When I heard that he was dead I wanted to give him the old salute for the last time." and raising his hand to his forehead in true military Tashion, the old man turned away and passed from the room.

The incident nearly overpowered Mrs. Harrison, and it was some time before she regained her composure.

Military Procession to Capitol.

Military Procession to Capitol.

At a quarter to 12 o'clock General McKee ordered 2500 infantrymen, standing at "attention" on both sides of the street, to "present arms," and, in the reverential hush which ensued, the capitet was carried from the house and placed in the luneration. Six Sergeants from the State Militia and two Sergeants from the Indianapolis Light Artillery carried the casket. Admiral George Brown, representing the navy; General Lew Wallace, representing the army, and Judge Baker and Judge Dowling formed an escort of honor, which followed the pall-bearers from the residence tollowed the pam-bearers from the residence to the hearse.

The aged survivors of the Seventieth Regiment marched to their places of honor behind the hearse, and when the old, bent soldiers of the Civil War saw the black-covered casket holding the body of their old friend and leader, borne to the hearse, many of them were affected to tears.

The Bar Association and the clubs marched slowly by with uncovered heads and took up their places in the procession.

Arrangements for the Funeral.

In marked contrast to the military dis-

Arrangements for the Funeral.

Arrangements for the Funeral.

In marked contrast to the military display made to-day, by which the State of Indiana paid its last tribute of honor to General Harrison, will be the funeral services to-morrow afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church. The rites will be simple, dignified and unostentatious.

The arrangements for the services to-morrow have been practically completed in detail. The church has been richly but simply decorated with drapings of black and white and of the American fiag. The entrances have been draped in black. In the interior and by way of relief to the more somber trappings, the altar and rostrum are covered with a profusion of palms and potted plants.

Owing to the limited capacity of the church, which will seat only about 1,000, and because of the great demand for seats, the committee on arrangements found it necessary to announce that admission to the church would be to friends of the family by card. The services to-morrow are intended only for the friends and relatives of General Harrison and this decision was deemed advisable in order to guarantee that the church would not be overrun with persons who had no claim to entrance and the friends crowded out.

Doctor Niccolls to Assist.

The honorary pallbearers were selected as far as possible from the members of expressions:

Ex-Secretary of the Navy, General Benjamin E. Trace, of New Verley, events and to the particular of New Verley.

announced by Secretary Tibbett, is as follows:

Ex-Secretary of the Navy, General Benjamin F. Tracy of New York, ex-Postmaster General John Wanamaker of Philadelphia, ex-Attorney General W. H. H. Miller of Indianapolis, ex-Secretary of the Interior John W. Noble of St. Louis, ex-Secretary of the Treasury Charles Foster of Fostoria, O., General Lew Wallace of Crawfordsyille, Ind., Judge Judson Harmon of Cincinnati, who was Attorney General under President Cleveland and Judge William A. Woods of Indianapolis.

The active palibearers are all from this city and are men who were friends of General Harrison for many years. They are: Augustus L, Mason, James Whitcomb Riley, Evans Woollen, Harry J. Milligan, Clifford Arrick, William C. Bobbs, Harry S. New, Howard Cole, John T. Griffiths, Newton Booth Tarkington, Hilton U. Brown and Samuel Reid.

The Reverend Doctor Samuel J. Niccolis, pastor of the Second Prespeterian Church

Booth Tarkington, Hilton U. Brown and Samuel Reid.

The Reverend Doctor Samuel J. Niccolls, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of St. Louis, has been selected by Mrs. Harrison to assist Doctor Haines, because of the friendship that had been formed between General Harrison and Doctor Niccolls during the summer vacations which the Harrison family have spent in the Adirondacks. Doctor Niccolls has a cottage within half a mile of Old Forge, the Harrison summer home.

Doctor Haines will deliver the principal address while Doctor Niccolls will read the scriptural lessons and offer the invocation. The music, which will be simple in its character, will be furnished by the full choir of the church, composed of twenty singers of the city under the direction of Edward Nell. The hymns that will be sung will be ones that were special favorites of General Harrison.

Who Will Compose Funeral Party.

There will be two of them, "Rock of

Who Will Compose Funeral Party.

There will be two of them, "Rock of Ages' and "Hark, Hark, My Soul." At the conclusion of this service, the funeral party will leave the church, going direct to Crown Hill Cemetery. The services at the cemetery will be exceedingly simple and brief, consisting of a prayer and recital of the words usually spoken as the body is lowered into the grave.

During the arrival of the friends at the church, a guard of the militia will be stationed at the entrance to assist the squad of police in preventing the crowd from intruding and congesting the space around the entrance. This military guard, however, will have no further part in the funerever, will have no further part in the funer al service.

Relative Speed.

There was a knock at St. Peter's gate.
"Who's there?" asked the aged guardian of the portal.
"Me," came the response.
"Whose me?"
"Open the gate and I'll show you."
"Oh, it's you, is it" says St. Peter as he opens the gate. "What were you in the other world?"
"A messenger boy, your highness."
"And what's your age?"
"Ninety-three years."
"Well, for a messenger boy, I suppose you got here as quick as you could, "Tonkers statesman.

PARKER ANNOUNCES HIS PLATFORM.

Republican Mayoralty Candidate's Declaration of Principles Evades Issues of Municipal Fight.

NO CENSURE FOR ZIEGENHEIN.

ceives No Attention in Document-Slim Meeting of Party at Odeon.

The Republicans formally opened their ampaign last night at a mass meeting at he Odeon at Finney and Grand avenues. ly too small to indicate anything like enthusiasm. There were in the hall about 1,000 people. Those that were there were very demonstrative and cheered enthusiastically every time the Nesbit law, the police law every time the Nesbit law, the police law or the Jefferson Club was mentioned.

The meeting was called to order shortly after 8 o'clock by John D. Johnson, president of the St. Louis Republican Club. At this time the attendance was so limited that the brass band was called into service and sent to the street in front of the building. With the assistance of the band the crowd was considerably augmented. The orchestra chairs were practically filled. A few people were seated in the boxes, and a few were scattered about the galleries.

Two of Mayor Ziegenhein's sons cocupied seats in the front row. A few rows behind heim and all the rest of the City Hall push were on hand.

Slim Crowd at Meeting.

when Mr. Parker appeared on the platform he was given a rousing reception. The audience rose and gave him three hearty cheers. As soon as he had taken his seat, John D. Johnson arose and called the meeting to order. Mr. Johnson made a long speech. He told how Mr. Parker had been nominated, said it was true that conferences had been held as the Security building and the St. Nicholas Hotel, and Mr. Parker and the rest of the Republican ticket were selected at these conferences.

Mr. Johnson never alluded to Ziegenhein, nor did he say a single word throughout his speech about his administration. The Nesbit law and the police law occupied his entire attention.

When Mr. Johnson finished his speech he introduced General George H. Shielis as the permanent chairman of the meeting. General Shields apparently had taken his cue from Mr. Johnson, and talked for an hour or more on the Nesbit law, the police law and the Jefferson Club. Not a word was uttered by him in defense of the administration of Mayor Ziegenhein. No explanation was made, or attempted, of the present condition of the streets of St. Louis, or its eleemosynary institutions or the protracted period of darkness, or anything else pertaining to the present condition of the city. The whole burden of the story of every speaker was the Nesbit and police laws.

When General Shields had finished he introduced Mr. Parker, the Republican candidate for Mayor. Mr. Parker was given a warm reception. The "boys" jumped to their feet and cheered wildly, waving hats and other things in his honor. Mr. Parker occupied the stand an hour and a half. He made a speech on the police law; then he read the platform, and after he had finished that task he continued his remarks with a long denunciation of the Nesbit law. At no time did he discuss the present condition of the city or promise anything better for the future.

The platform of the party consists of declarations by Mr. Parker, and which by the way, was not approved by a formal vote at last night's meeting.

It is as follows:

To the Citizens of St. Louis: Gentlemen—Having been officially notified that at the primary election held by the Rether primary election held by the Re-

The platform of the party constant of the work are not approved at that shell's meeting.

The the Citizen of St. Long Citizene and the state of the

TEST FOR YOURSELF

The Wonderful Curative Properties of Swamp-Roots

To Prove What SWAMP-ROOT Will Do for YOU Every Reader of The Republic May Have a Sample Bottle Sent Absolutely Free by Mail.

Among the many famous investigated cures of Swamp-Root none seem to speak higher of the wonderful curative properties of this great kidney remedy than the one published this week for the benefit of readers.

Swamp-Root will do just as much any housewife whose back is too work to the seem of th

"You have no idea how well I feel, I am satisfied that I do not need any more medicine, as I am in as good health as I ever was in my life." So says Mrs. Mary Engelherdt, of 265 Madison street, St. Louis Mo., to reporter of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"For more than ten years I had suffered with what the doctors termed female trouble; also heart trouble, with swelling of the feet and limbs. Last summer I felt so badly that I thought I had not long to like. I consulted doctor after doctor and took their medicines, but felt no better. The physicians told me my kidneys were not affected, and while I

Kidney Trouble,

I somehow felt certain my kidneys were the cause of my trouble. A friend recommended me to try Dr. Klimer's Swamp-Root, and I must say I derived immense benefit aimast from the first week. I continued the medicine, taking it regularly, and I am now in splendid health. The pains and aches have all gone. I have recommended Swamp-Foot to all my friends, and told them what it has done for me. I will gladly answer any one who desires to write me regarding my case. I most heartily indoorse Swamp-Root from every standpoint. There is such a pleasant taste to Swamp-Root and it goes right to the weak spots and drives them out of the system."

MRS, MARY ENGELHARDT.

Howto Find Out It used to be considered that only urinary and bladded troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern schence proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work, so when your kidneys are weak or out of order you can under stand how quickly your entire body is affected, and how every organ seems to fall to do stand how quickly your entire body is affected, and now every organ seems to its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the famous new discovery, Dr. Kile mer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince any one.

Many women suffer untold misery because the nature of their disease is not correctly understood. They are led to believe that womb trouble or femule weakness of some sort is responsible for the many fills that beset womankind.

Neuralgia, nervousness, headache, puffy or dark circles under the eyes, rheumantism, a dragging pain or dull ache in the back, weakness or bearing down sensation profuse or scanty supply of urine, with strong odor, frequent desire to pass it night or day, with scalding or burning sensation—these are all unmistakable signs of kidney and bladder trouble.

If there is any doubt in your mind as to your condition, take from your urine on

If there is any doubt in your mind as to your condition, take from your urine on rising about four ounces, place it in a glass or bottle and let it stand twenty-four hours. If on examination it is milky or cloudy, if there is a brick-dust settling, or if small particles float about in it, your kidneys are in need of immediate attention. Other symptoms showing that you need Swamp-Root are sleeplessness, dizziness, irregular heart, breathlessness, sallow, unhealthy complexion, plenty of ambition but no strength.

Other symptoms showing that you need Swamp-Root are sleeplersness, dizziness, irregular heart, breathlessness, sallow, unhealthy complexion, plenty of ambition but no strength.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is used in the leading hospitals, recommended by physicians in their private practice, and is taken by doctors themselves, because they recognize in it the greatest and most successful remedy that science has ever been able to compound.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar bottles at the drug stores everywhere.

SDecialNotico-Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder remedy, is so remarkably successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all our readers who have not already tried it may have a sample bottle sent absolutely free by mail. Also a book telling all about kidney and bladder troubles and containing meny of the thousands upon thousands of testimental letters received from men and women cured by Swamp-Root. Be sure and mention reading this generous offer in St. Louis Sunday Republic when sending your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

FIRE SALE. _ $39,000 STOCK

Millinery, Skirt and Shirt Maists

DAMAGED BY FIRE, WATER AND SMOKE.

All Must Go at Any Old Price. Come Quick and Get First Choice,

WANTED-39 SALESLADIES,-

714-16 Franklin Ave.

paign, as I propose to make speeches in every ward in the city."

The doctor then retired.
George D. Reynolds was the next speaker.
Mr. Reynolds spoke for a half hour. He discussed only one topic, the Nesht law.
Of the vice presidents advertised for the meeting at least one-third failed to appear. Prominent among those who occupied seat on the platform was Judge Jacob Klein.

THE BEGGAR'S PRIDE. The professional beggar who has been making his appearance in American cities as a self-constituted ornament to the close of the century is a contribution from Europe, where he has long flourished in splendor or poverty according to the profits of the season.

dor or poverty according to the productors.

He is a man of resources who rises quickly to an occasion, as is evidenced in the story of the tramp who was called in from the street to decide a dispute, and was asked if he could eat thirty qualis in thirty days
"Qualis!" said the tramp, contemptuously.
"Make it turkeys!"
Another tale of beggary relates to French mendicant who stopped a gentlema on the streets of Paris and asked for alm;
When he was ourtly refused he turne away with an air of desperation, and an claimed bitterly:

away with an air of desperation, and a claimed bitterly:

"Then I am driven to it!"

Fearing that he meant self-destructions the gentleman called him back, gave him coin and asked him what he meant by the threat.

"Sir," said the beggar, "I meant that you did not give me money I should be driven to work."

Miss Bates, who has written and published an interesting book on travels in Spain, rean interesting book on travels in Spain, re-lates that the beggars of that country ar-amusingly proud, and are exceedingly politi-so long as nothing is said or done to wouse their pride. She tells a story of a friend, a German woman, who requested a strong man who had importuned her for charity to carry her hag up the stairs. The strong man started back at this unusual request drew himself up haughtily, frowned and replied:

"Madam, I am a beggar, not a labores." A Railroad Advecate.
"I'm in favor of railroads," said the re

MEN CURED

Without Drugs or Electricity by Our VACUUM ORGAN DEVELOPER

No Cure No Pay

Our Vacuum Organ Developer curse where everything else fails and hope is dead. It restores small, weak organs, lost power, failing manhood, drains, errors of youth, etc. Stricture and Varioscele permanently cured in 1 to 4 weeks.

We Drugs to rain the stomach. Se Etectric Belts to hister and burn. Our Vacuum Developer is a local treatment applied directly to the weak and disordered parts. It gives strength and development wherever applied. Old men with lost or failing manhood, or the young and middle aged who are reaping the results of youthful errors, excess or over work are quickly restored to health and strength. Our marvelous appliance has astonished the entire world. Hundreds of leading physicians in the United States are now recommending our appliance in the severest cases where every other known device has failed.

You will see and feel its benefit from the first day for it is applied directly at the seat of the disorder. It makes no difference low severs the